

ABSTRACT

A method of improving communication skills and game. The method for improving communication skills among two or more players uses an educational board game wherein the method comprises advancing to at least one colored space by rolling a die. Then a card is selected from at least one card deck associated with the at least one colored space. Next at least one activity listed on each card is performed wherein the at least one activity comprises verbal and non verbal communications which are performed interactively among the players. The method further comprises allocating a token for successfully performing each activity and earning advancement by rolling the die.

10